

Good morning. I'm glad to be back today with my church family even though it was only one Sunday; I missed being with you. I hope everyone is making plans to come be a part of today's festivities that are planned at Bear Wallow Farms. Times like this outside the church building is where we can build relationships with one another and have a great time. When we read the book of Acts, we know that the fellowship the Saints had together was an important part of what made them the church they were.
